The most wonderful Pills in the world for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all Disorders of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Their action is mild yet effectual; they do not gripe or purge, and for habitual costiveness, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, wind, indigestion, sick headache, furred tongue, unpleasant taste in the mouth on rising in the morning, sallowness, scurvy, pimples, blotches, boils, &c., they are of unexampled efficacy; and being prepared solely from the vegetable kingdom, may be taken by the most delicate of either sex, equally with the robust, merely regulating the dose according to the printed directions accompanying each box.

Those who are subject to occasional attacks of Biliousness instead of resorting to the old-fashioned blue pill and nauseous black draught, will do well to keep a box of these Pills by them and never leave home without them: an attack may thus be nipped in the bud by taking a dose or two, which, if allowed to run its course for a few days, would probably almost completely prostrate its unhappy victim. Sold in boxes at 1s. 1½d. 2s. 9d., and 4s. 6d.

In all cases of nervous and functional debility (arising from whatever cause), it is truly unrivalled. # ALL ABLAZE!!!

MESSRS. MARCKS AND Co., LD., DIAMOND MERCHANTS, beg to announce that they have just come into possession of a few Gems in Diamonds. They are the finest in India at the present day, and we challenge the Quality and Purity of these fine Gems against any now sold in the Bombay Market.

These Diamonds are certainly the finest we have ever seen. They have been sold privately at Rio Janeiro just before the departure of the Emperor Dom Pedro from Brazil, and have been re-cut in England, and are certainly the finest that have been shown, and we doubt that Stones of this Description will ever come into the Market again.

The best Indian Diamond will loose by comparison as their flashing brilliancy is grand.

As we already have special pressing invitation to forward these Gems to the Mofussil, we invite an early inspection.

THE PROVINCIAL CONFERENCE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, MAY 11.

The fourth Provincial Conference commenced this evening, at Joshi Hall, in the city, and was attended by eighty-eight delegates as follows, viz., sixty delegates from Poona ; twelve from Sattara ; three each from Nassick, Sholapur, and Khandeish ; two from Amednagar ; and one each from Alibag, Tanna, Ratnagiri, Dharwar, and Ichalkaranjee. Very little interest appeared to be taken in the proceedings by the general public. School-boys were not admitted. The proceedings throughout were conducted in the vernacular [illegible] ly. It was originally proposed that Rao Bahadur Gopalrao Hari Deshmukh should be the president of the Conference ; but this gentleman declined the honour on the ground of ill-health. It is no secret that he declined the presidentship for other reasons. He had all along supported Sir Andrew Scoble's Bill to raise the protected age, and it was apprehended that his occupying the chair would cause a split in the Conference. At his suggestion, Mr. Gopal Dhond Limaye, a pleader from Sattara, was elected president. Mr. Limaye occupies neutral position with regard to the protected age question. This action has given satisfaction to all the delegates, and there is now no reason to fear that the Conference will end in a fiasco as it might otherwise have been the case. Having welcomed the delegates, the president moved the first resolution, placing on record the profound sorrow of the Conference at the untimely death of Mr. Charles Bradlaugh, whose noble championship of this country, for the last three years, will ever be remembered with the deepest gratitude by the entire Indian nation. The Conference then reaffirmed its resolution of last year on the subject of education, namely, that steps should be taken by Government to increase the number of schools until each village of five hundred inhabitants is provided with a primary school ; and that the municipalities and local boards should be requested to impart free primary education to children of paupers. The Conference further recommends that small municipalities should be relieved of the responsibility of maintaining primary schools, which should be given as before in charge of the Educational Department Government levying, if necessary, from these municipalities a suitable contribution. Last year's resolution on the subject of the abkari administration of this presidency was also re-affirmed, local option being insisted upon and Government being asked to reduce the number of liquor-shops to a safe minimum, as is being done by the Madras Government. It was also suggested that Government should take early steps to prohibit the opening of liquor-shops at fairs, &c. Last year's resolution on the income-tax operations was also re-affirmed. The Conference recorded its regret that the instructions of the Government of India in the matter of the income-tax, had not been only attended to, in consequence of which the operation of the tax had caused wide and serious dissatisfaction. The resolution suggested that full effect be given to those instructions in an ungrudging manner so as to make the assessments more equitable and their levy less hard. The Salt Act was next dealt with. The Conference recorded its opinion that Government should take early steps to amend the definition of the word "manufacture" in the Act, so as to exclude all processes of cleaning and purifying salt for domestic consumption. and that advantage should be taken of this opportunity to further amend the Act on the lines suggested by the Conference of 1889. It was finally proposed and carried that this Conferencc is of opinion that for the purpose of securing despatch in the execution of the orders of municipal bodies, or of their executive committees, and to strengthen generally the executive side of the municipal administration, it is necessary that the District Municipal Act should be so amended as to enable municipalities to delegate to their chief stipendiary officers any or all of their executive powers.

THE MANIPUR EXPEDITION.

SURRENDER OF THE MANIPUR INSURGENTS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, MAY 11.

The Regent of Manipur was captured and taken into Kaithenebi on the 9th. He was surrounded by Manipuris, who threatened to shoot him if he did not surrender.

On the following day Aiya Parel, Major in the Manipur Army, was captured by Major Maxwell, the Political Officer at Manipur.

A rumour also prevails that the Jubraj for whose apprehension five thousand rupees reward was offered has been captured, but this wants confirmation.

Cholera in the Kohima route is dying out, but at Tammu and Kendat there have been more cases among both European and Native troops.

Heavy rain has set in at Kohima, making the difficulties of transport very great.

THE MIRANZAI EXPEDITION.

Jirgahs, from all the remaining sections of the Samil tribe, have come to Gulistan to tender their submission, bringing with them all the rifles and other Government property that had been taken. All the tribes seem utterly dispirited and cowed, and prepared to submit to any terms that may be imposed. A strong fortified position is to be constructed on the Mastaon Plateau capable of affording accommodation to three or four hundred men. Smaller posts are to be built without delay along the crest of the Samana range. Heavy rain has been falling causing disc omfort to the troops who are unprovided with tents or shelter.

It is reported from Darbanrai that the Hashanzai and the Akazai Jirgahs are anxious to come in, and if they do this will bring the Black Mountain Expedition to a close, but the Government is decided to hut two Battalions and one Battery of Native Troops in Hashanzai territory, near Seri. Captain Shakespeare, with a party of a hundred and twenty frontier police, proceeds against the Lushai Chief, Jacopa, who has refused to surrender. Some rough work is expected.

Colonel Mainwaring's expedition to Klang Klang in the Chin country has been successful so far as that village is concerned ; Yahwit having given his eldest son as a hostage of good faith, but the villages of Tao Houlipi Hriankan and Tungrai have not yet submitted or paid the fine demanded of them. The Tangzang villagers, who lost their Chief at the Lavwar action, have sworn to avenge his death by the head of our men or one of the Hakas.

Colonel Mainwaring is about to proceed home on a year's leave, and will be succeeded by Captain Browne, of the 39th Garhwalis.

THE BENARES RIOTS.

In the Benares riot trial, seven out of fifteen accused, have been acquitted. Three have been sentenced to transportation for fourteen years ; two to twelve years, one to ten years, one to seven years, and a sweeper boy, found with stolen property in his possession, was sentenced to thirty

Owing to the [illegible] rumours prevailed that a recurrence of the late riot would take place yesterday. Orders were accordingly issued for the troops, and strong detachments were placed in the principal places of the city. All, however, passed off quietly, and the men have returned to barracks, but have been ordered to keep themselves in readiness.

SIR GUILFORD MOLESWORTH ON BI-METALLISM.

Our London correspondent writes :—A distinguished Anglo-Indian, Sir Guilford Molesworth read a paper before a general meeting of the Society of Arts two evenings ago on Bi-metallism. "Only fools are bi-metallists," was the verdict, Sir Guilford told his audience, of a statesman when asked by a friend whether there was anything in bi-metallism. The author of this polite remark was our old friend, Robert Lowe, who as Lord Sherbrooke, if that is his present name, has completely passed out of the public gaze. He is or was noted for his strong expressions, but it is doubtful if he would venture were he now Chancellor of Exchequer to characterize the exponents of a dual standard of currency as idiots. Sir Guilford pointed out that a few years ago the number of bi-metallists in England might have been counted on the ten fingers ; now they are legion, upwards of 100 Members of Parliament favour bi-metallism ; 135 petitions in favour of it have been presented to Parliament from chambers of commerce, trades councils, agricultural associations, and labour organizations. What he reported about the progress of the movement in foreign countries was equally significant. It would, he said, be possible to multiply to any extent instances of conversion when the subject has been fairly investigated otherwise than superficially. Sir Guilford, in a carefully prepared and interesting paper, set out to prove that the departure from bi-metallism created an insufficiency of gold for monetary purposes ; that this has caused a serious shrinkage in the volume of currency ; that it has been the direct cause of failing prices which [illegible] cause suffering among the industrial classes ; that it has altered practically the terms of [illegible] mortgages, and other agreements contracted [illegible] the date of the demonetisation of silver ; that it has been the direct cause of the agricultural distress, particularly of the discontent in Ireland ; that the disorders which have followed the abandonment of bi-metallism were distinctly predicted, and that the prediction has been fulfilled with startling accuracy ; that the adoption of gold mono-metallism has falsified the world's standard of measurement of value ; that this falsification has introduced into commerce and trade an element of uncertainty, doubt, and distrust, and that it has also caused an inequitable transfer of value from the productive to the unproductive classes of the community. In his concluding observations, Sir Guilford referred to Sir David Barbour's "scarcely veiled threat" that if the United States should abandon silver as a monetary standard India might in self-defence have to close her mints to silver, and adopt a gold standard. "Such an action," said the lecturer, "could not fail to produce a monetary crisis of the most appalling character, which would shake the credit of England to its very foundations ; but as Sir David has remarked, 'the adoption of a gold standard by India would probably be attended with very serious consequences for Western nations; but if in this matter they look only to what they conceive to be their own interest, they cannot reasonably object to India following the same course." Currency divides us as much, if not more than, ordinary politics. Two friends of mine were talking about Sir G. Molesworth's lecture some days before it was delivered. Said one, "I know a man who would any day walk 20 miles to hear a paper in favour of bi-metallism,' 'and I,' exclaimed the other, 'know one who would walk the same distance not to hear it.' During the progress of the Uncovenanted agitation, a prominent politician, though not a Member of Parliament, said to a gentleman officially identified with the movement, 'Yes, I will help you all I can if you only steer clear of that wretched bi-metallism."

popularly known as "Chikodi cloth." The Kolhapur jail stands first in cotton carpets, but the prices are still high, and the industry is not likely to flourish unless it is taken up by the common weavers. With this end in view it might be introduced in the Local Technical Schools. The towels and table-cloths and napkins turned out at the jail workshops are worthy of honorable mention. In woollen carpets the village of Rendal, in the Alta Petta, carries the first prize. This industry is said to be indigenous to the village of Valegaum, in the Kurundwar State, and though several looms are reported to exist there, only one solitary exhibit found its way to the show! In Kamblees Shirhatti in the Sangli State, with encouragement from the State authorities, ought to be able to flourish and even compete with Bellary, so noted for this industry. On the whole the woollen industry in Kolhapur and Southern Mahratta Country must be considered poor. The Alta Petta has sent some fine specimens of aloe and cotton ropes and cords, and there is a rope-machine from the same Petta, which is some improvement on the crude method usually employed. Kolhapur shows some good lace.

Class V.—Leather-work. Exhibitors, 164. Exhibits, 402.—The Kolhapur State has reason to be proud of its leather-work, for it has this time beaten Miraj in the production of native shoes, for which the latter has been so long deservedly famous. The Alta Peta sends the largest number of exhibits in this class, and there are some good specimens of tanned hides from the town of Kolhapur, and the Gad Hinglaz Petta.

Class VI.—Carpentry. Exhibitors, 125. Exhibits, 640. —The exhibits in this class, though they are numerous, are below the mark. Miraj sends a goodly number, which give evidence of skill, care, and attention on the part of the artisans. There are few exhibits from the Kolhapur city, except those coming from the Technical School, where this industry appears to have made considerable progress.

Class VII.—Pottery. Exhibitors, 64. Exhibits, 404.—Gad Hinglaz has, for the first time, shown that it possesses good material for the manufacture of earthenware. Panalla, though it has maintained its reputation for this class of work, shows no improvement on what it sent at the last Exhibition, while the Kolhapur potters have displayed skill in making new furnaces, khujas, and tiles. Raybag has attempted enamelled ink-stands, but, above all, Lakshmeshwar, in the Miraj State, bids fair to turn out as good earthen-ware as any pottery works in India. A new type of tiles and khujas, exhibited by Vishnu Amrit Bhawe, of Sangli, are good in their own way, but nothing can be said of their practical use as only one or two articles of each sort are exhibited.

Class VIII.—Goldsmith's work. Exhibitors, 98. Exhibits, 402.—Neither the Kolhapur District nor the S. M. Country States have much to show in gold-work, with the exception of a few rings from the Gad Hinglaz Peta and the Ramdurg State. The bulk of exhibits consists of the jewelry recently made in the palace on the occasion of H. H. the Raja's wedding, by artisans specially brought from Bombay. The show of silver-ware is numerically much stronger, and consists of a variety of articles made in Kolhapur, Miraj, and Sangli, the forms and finish of those exhibited by Mr. Naro Ramchundra Ukidve, of the last-mentioned place, proving so attractive as to result in a rush of purchasers. There is some artistic skill in some of the silver "chowks" (worn by Lingayets), exhibited from Gad Hinglaz and Lakshmeshwar, but there are few things to equal the famous Curch silver-ware.

Class IX.—Fine Arts. Exhibitors, 114. Exhibits, 573. —In oil-paintings, Aba Lal, the State artist, has some good portraits of members of the Raja's family. Next to him comes Martand Jingar, with his oil-paints of Hindu gods and some living notabilities. There is not much to see in water-colours. Mr. Gangadhar Raysinha Punekar, who is being specially trained in the Bombay School of Arts at the expense of the Kolhapur State, exhibits some good photos and enlargements and Mr. Shriniwas Mahadev, of Shahapur, in the Sangli State, has some pretty views of Northern India, very neatly done. The work of the State photographer also deserves mention. The Chief of Miraj exhibits some photo-apparatus of local manufacture, such as a dark tent, enlarging frames, &c. Among models in plaster of Paris are some made by Kristna Sutar, of the Technical School, from Gypsum, obtained from Bhudargad. In the models in clay, the bust of the late Regent of Kolhapur, by the Drawing Master of the Kagal A.-V. School, is the only exhibit which the committee consider deserving of a prize. The figures in wood, exhibited by the Miraj State, were centres of attraction to the visitors.

Class X.—Musical Instruments. Exhibitors, 15. Exhibits, 28.—This may be called the poorest class in the show, there being only hardly more than half-a-dozen [illegible] years.

Class XI.—Stone-work. Exhibitors, 62. Exhibits, 193. —The majority of articles in this class consisted of State-work, manufactured by Mr. Gopinath S. Paranjpe, of the local Training School for Masters, already mentioned in connection with minerals. Among others made of stone found in Jotiba's Hill is a large Tulsi Vrindavana rather elaborately worked, and a few pestles and mortars.

Class XII.—Agriculture. Exhibitors, 340. Exhibits 1,495.—The collection in this class consists of a large variety of corn and vegetable seeds, none of which are above the ordinary run, an indication of want of proper care on the part of the agricultural classes in the selection of seeds. The raw sugar exhibited is of fair quality, but the refined article, though prepared in several places in the State does not come up, in a single instance, to the exhibits of Mr. Gasswalla of Poona. This is, no doubt, to be attributed to the clumsy process which is followed in the State, and which must continue to be adopted by the village-refiners till the State or some enterprising capitalist steps in to effect an improvement. The agricultural implements though numerous are clumsily made. Sangli exhibits an iron plough, copied from an English article.

There is very little improvement perceptible in the class of vehicles (Class XIII.) over the last exhibition.

Classes XIV. and XV.—There is nothing more that requires to be said of these beyond what is stated in Mr. Candy's previous report.

It now remains for us to make our acknowledgements to those whose efforts have contributed to the success of this exhibition. First and foremost, allow us, Sir, to offer your thanks to you, and also to the Dewan Saheb for your cordial assistance, but for which, we are afraid, our efforts would be lame. The co-operation of the Karbharis of all the S. M. States and the district officers and mamledars of [illegible] has been very valuable to us, but above all that of Mr. Eunson and Mr. Fernandez, who had everything from their respective departments ready, cut and dried for us, thus saving us a lot of work. The judging committees have by no means an easy task, and the care which they bestowed upon awarding the prizes should not be passed unnoticed. We also repeat our thanks to Mr. R. V. [illegible], who has shown such taste and skill in arranging and decorating the grounds, and unstintingly lending assistance in other arrangements also. A word of praise is due to Mr. Daikar Vasudeo whose services were lent to us by the Kolhapur State, and who has spared himself neither night nor day during the last three months in carrying out many but none the less tedious details. All this money willingly bestowed, and this money so readily granted will not be spent in vain, if, on some future occasion, be it in Kolhapur or any of the S. M. Country States, the lessons to be derived to-day. Some of which have been printed in the course of our report are shown likely to have been utilised for improving the industries of this State as well as those of the S. M. Country. Your Highness, Ladies, and Gentlemen, we thank you for having graced this occasion by your presence.

Colonel Wodehouse rose and said: Your Highness, Ladies, and Gentlemen,—Mr. Modak's report, which is supplementary to that read by Mr. Candy at the opening of the Exhibition, is very full and complete, so that it will not be necessary for me to go into any detail. I am very glad that another auspicious event, the marriage of his uncle, the young Chief of Kagal, should have enabled us to have the honor of seeing his Highness here this morning. Had it not been for this he would have already left for Dharwar. The ceremony to-day seems to me to be a very fitting wind-up to those that have been taking place here for the past six weeks. That has been a very busy time for all and not the least to you, gentlemen, who have given your time and labour to this Exhibition. I am sure the administration is much indebted to you all from Mr. Candy downwards. Mr. Modak, the secretary, and Mr. Dhurandhar, the overseer in charge, have been indefatigable, and often, as I visited the Exhibition, before its opening, yet never once did I find them except hard at work. The way the Southern Maratha Chief have co-operated with Kolhapur in this undertaking is most gratifying; and I am very glad that with the single exception of the Chief of Mudhol and the Chief of Sangli all have managed to come in here and honor the Exhibition with their presence. You have touched in the report on its financial aspect. It cannot be said that it is a favourable balance-sheet: on the other hand it was never intended that it should pay: the Council wanted the money with the view to benefitting the subjects of the State and specially the artizan class, and they intended and wished that these should visit the Exhibition in large numbers, and here I can sympathise with the disappointment you express. Considering the population of Kolhapur itself and that many say have come in from Miraj and Sangli, I think there has been so large an attendance as might have been reasonably expected. When Mr. Chhatre's Circus was here last month I believe hundreds night after night were turned away from the doors, though his charges were double what you levied. It shows the people care more for amusement than industry in their leisure hours, and it is a question whether on another occasion it would not be a good thing to try and combine a little amusement with the show. Whether it is wise to charge an admission fee at all is a question. But probably it may be, but it should be very small. The amount realized even by the higher fee is but little and would not do much more than pay for the signet rings you say you are going to present to three deserving officials. I would suggest on the other hand giving free tickets both by train and on admission to the better exhibitors and not perhaps accepting as a matter of course for exhibition every thing that is sent up. A little judicious weeding would give more room. I think too, as at Chinchli, we allow horses and cattle from outside to compete for our prizes, so we should here. Then our artizans would see in what they are deficient and in what they excel. Briefly as regards the exhibits themselves, I think we may say we have good State gypsum and dyeing and colouring materials, and the Exhibition has done a good deal to bring them to light. The improvement in local leather-work is most marked and encouraging. As regards iron I know it is the intention of my friend Mr. Eunson to make smelting experiments in the monsoon, and from the practical and careful way he does all that he puts his hand to, I am sure they will be systematically and thoroughly conducted, and we shall then know better how we stand, and whether it would be desirable to go on further with the iron industry. Your Highness, ladies, and gentlemen, I will now with your permission proceed to deliver the prizes and certificates, as I am unwilling to detain you longer this morning, and very full remarks have been given by the committee under each head.

After this Colonel Wodehouse distributed the prizes and certificates to the successful exhibitors, and Mr. Candy proposed a vote of thanks, which terminated the proceedings.

BOMBAY PORT TRUST.

The following are excerpts from minutes of Trustees' meeting, of the 5th instant:—

Submitted letter from the Port Officer, dated 18th October, reporting that steam-launches use the side-steps and slopes at the Apollo Bander obstructing the free use of these steps by small pulling and sailing boats; that as the launches come into the steps at a great rate of speed they are a source of danger, and they frighten women and other nervous passengers and cause damage to smaller boats. The Port Officer states that there has been a standing order that steam-boats should use the east steps of the pier, but it has not been enforced by any law, and cases have occurred where steam-boats have refused to obey the orders of the police in this case. He recommends that a bye-law, as proposed by him, be passed prohibiting steam launches using the slope or inside steps on the north side of the pier or the slope on the south side except in rough weather. Submitted memo. by the chairman, dated 4th April. Submitted memo. by the Port Officer, dated 8th April, submitting an amended draft of the proposed bye-law as follows:—Bye-law for the use of the landing place at the Wellington Pier, Apollo Bunder. The steps at the east face of this pier shall be the ordinary landing place for launches, cutters, gigs, or other vessels propelled by steam-power to go alongside for the purpose of landing or embarking passengers or for any other purpose. It is prohibited for the above vessels to use the slope or inside steps on the north side of the pier or the slope on the south side except between the 1st June and 1st September each year. Penalty for infringement of this bye-law, Rs. 50. The papers having been circulated to the Trustees were not read. Read Trustees' minutes thereon.

Resolution.—Provision should, subject to the approval of Government, be made for a bye-law in the amendment form, proposed by the Port Officer except that 15th May and 15th September should be substituted for 1st June and 1st September.

Submitted letters from the Traffic Manager, dated 7th February, 9th March, and 27th April, reporting that serious complaints have been made that the approach to the mouth of the Frere canals has silted up greatly in consequence of which boats cannot come in, except at extremely high spring-tides, and urging upon the Trustees the necessity for improving the canals and the approach thereto [illegible] on the reclamation. Submitted letter from the Engineer, dated 2nd May, stating that the east or main canal is silted, on an average of 2·645, and the north 3·76 feet over 78·00 T. H. D., and estimating the cost of removing the silt at Rs. 26,217, and of lowering the channel over a width of 150 feet to 77·00, at Rs. 8,166. He suggests that with a view to afford relief which is urgently needed, ¼ of the east canal and of the approach channel be dredged at a cost of about Rs. 4,885.

Resolution.—Referring to the last para. of the Engineer's No. 839-3 dated 2nd instant, a sum not exceeding Rs. 4,885 may be expended, the work being taken in hand at once, and carried on as rapidly as possible. Should the Engineer find that the whole amount cannot be expended with advantage, the work should be stopped.

The following were amongst the papers laid on the table:—

CONSUMPTION.

CONSUMPTION, or phthisis, is one of the most prevalent diseases in this country. It usually attacks people between twenty and thirty, but is not uncommon at a more advanced age. It occurs frequently in stone-masons, grinders of steel instruments, miners, tailors, sempstresses, and others whose occupation is of a sedentary nature, and exposes them to the inhalation of dust. Impure air, constant bad food, dissipation, and deficiency of exercise are all common exciting causes.

It is said that it may arise in some cases from deficiency in mastication, due to loss of teeth. The mortality in England from this disease alone is very great, and it has been pointed out that the death-rate from consumption is inversely to the dryness of the situation. Judicious subsoil drainage would do much to decrease the prevalence of what may be considered a national malady. The chief symptoms of this fell desease are cough, expectoration, spitting of blood, night-sweats, shortness of breath, and general wasting.

Some or all of these symptoms may be present. The spitting of blood may amount to only a few teaspoonsful, or the amount brought up may be very great indeed, so as to endanger the life of the patient. The cough is usully distressing, and frequently keeps the patient awake at night. The spectoration varies in character and in quantity; sometimes there is a very little, sometimes it is thick and yellow, and brought up with difficulty. The shortness of breath is not a very prominent symptom, and often gives no trouble until near the end.

The loss of flesh is generally progressive, the patient in a few months being reduced to almost a shadow. The temperature, as shown by the thermometer, is always elevated, the amount of fever often being as much as four or five degrees at bed-time.

It may be said, speaking generally, that consumption is not curable, but under judicial medical supervision a great deal may be done to ameliorate the symptoms and prolong the life of the sufferer. Some years ago it was considered that the duration of consumption in this country in each individual rarely exceeded two years, but since the introduction of cold liver oil, extract of malt, and other remedies patients frequently live many years, their term of life being but little shortened. The remedies which have to be taken in this condition are various, and the most important of them is cod liver oil, which, to most patients, is not palatable unless combined with Kepler Extract of Malt. We believe this combination can be had in the form of the Kepler Solution of Cod Liver Oil; and it is said that patients grow fat upon it when other forms of oil are productive of distress and pain.

Expectoration may be facilitated by the administration of Tabloids of Chloride of Ammonium—one or two three or four times a day—and when the throat is painful from excessive coughing, a Voice Tabloid may be taken. It is frequently necessary to ensure a change of air for the patient, and the principal seaside resorts in this country suitable for invalids are Ventnor, Bournemouth, Hastings, and Torquay. In advanced cases, it is sometimes necessary for the patient to undertake a sea-voyage either to Australia or the Cape of Good Hope.

COMMERCIAL NOTES.

(From the Home Papers.)

In Hungary reports are published which show the results of the reduction of the railway tariffs. Before the cheap zone tariff was established—during 1888—the number of passengers who travelled by Hungarian State railways was 61,79,088; in 1889, when the zone tariff had been in use five months, the number had increased to 10,112,600; and in 1890 to 17,895,400.

In a report to the Foreign Office on the trade of Saigon during 1890, Mr. Tremlett, the British consul, states that 506000 tons of rice were exported,an increase of 226,000 tons on the total for 1889. The crop was a full average one, and prices ruled high for the greater portion of the year. The large shipments were partly a result of the failure of the Japan rice crop, trade being resumed with Japan after an interval of many seasons. The bulk of the rice was, however, sent to China and the Philippines. The shipments to Europe were also not insignificant. The new crop has been favourably spoken of, in spite of the fact that there was scarcely any rain during October and November last,but it is now admitted that the drought did considerable damage, and that the crop of 1891 will be at least 25 per cent. short of last year's.

A warning is offered by the Paris correspondent of the Economist to English readers of French intelligence against concluding from reports of large meetings recently held in France to protest against the Customs Tariff Bill, that there is anything like a general movement in favour of free trade. These manifestations of local public opinion, though earnest and popular enough, are aroused solely by those parts of the bill which provide for duties on the raw materials in which the particular local industries are interested. Usually these industries produce goods for exportation, and those engaged in them are afraid of a loss of trade through advance in the cost of production. So far the correspondent is, no doubt, justified, but he omits to notice that if the duties on raw materials should be reduced, the alliance between the agricultural and the manufacturing sections of the Protectionists will be weakened or broken up, and this may lead to important modifications of the bill in other directions. If the duties on silk, wool, hides, and maize are to be relaxed or abolished, the representatives of the farmers cannot be expected to support high rates upon manufactured articles. No one can foresee, however, what may be the fate of the bill until it has been fully discussed by the Chambers in the light of the recent local demonstrations.

The annual review of the American Iron and Steel Association shows that in 1890 the production of iron in the United States exceeded that of Great Britain for the first time. The production of pig iron amounted to 9,202,703 gross tons, or 1,200,000 more than in Great Britain. Of Bessemer steel ingots the output was 3,688,871 tons, or nearly 2,000,000 tons more than Great Britain. The production of Bessemer steel rails was 1,867,837tons against about 1,000,000 tons made in Great Britain. In the manuracture of open-hearth steel, which is used in shipbuilding, the Americans are still far behind their English rivals; but this is the only product in which they take second rank.

Alluding to the fact that there has lately been considerable excitement in the Canadian wheat trade, a Montreal paper has the following:—"The English market has no doubt been affected by the unfavourable reports of the growing crops in England and France, together with the diminished spot supplies in Great Britain, and probably the war scare has entered materially into the situation. These elements of strength appear for the moment to have obliterated from the minds of some operators that during the past four weeks the supply of wheat in sight on this continent and on passage to Europe has increased about 10,000,000 bushels, beingnow 59,075,000 bushels against 49,300,000 bushels about the middle of March. This, together with the prospects of large crops of both winter and spring wheat in the United States and Canada, should not be wholly lost sight of by those who predict extravagantly high prices in the near future."

In reference to the German competition in the neutral cutlery markets of the world, Mr. Wardley, a member of the Trades Council, who has taken a prominent part in the false marking agitation, stated lately at a dinner in connection with the South Yorkshire Enginemen's Protection Association, that the Sheffield trade was suffering from the tactics of certain Sheffield manufacturers. He saw the other day some good, honest Sheffield cutlery which a Sheffield manufacturer was turning out for a German customer, and on which he was stamping the German's name. This was being sent by the German into neutral markets; but along with it the German would send some rubbish made at Solingen on which he would stamp a Sheffield name. The natural result would be that the purchaser, believing the goods to be what they represented, would naturally come to the conclusion that the German was superior to the Sheffield. Other manufacturers and merchants were actually purchasing German goods, and, as they could not ship them to England and then to their foreign customers, they sent instructions that they should be forwarded to the agents abroad from Germany.

A report upon the Panama Canal scheme, addressed by M. Bonaparte Wyse to M. Monchicourt, the official liquidator of the old Panama Canal Company, contains an account of the negotiations with the United States of Colombia, particulars of the supplementary technical survey, and, finally, the text of the contracts. M. Wyse advocates the construction of a canal having six locks, with a single artificial lake in the centre, as the best alternative solution presenting itself. He estimates the time required for carrying out the work at five years, and the expenditure at a maximum of 600,000,000f. M. Wyse expresses the conviction that before the expiration of ten years, the profits of the new company for the completion of the canal will be sufficient to enable it to pay out of them a progressive proportionate share for indemnifying the parties interested in the old undertaking. The report states that the sanitary condition of Panama has considerably improved.

Some confusion appears to have arisen in the public mind in connection with the bills laid before Parliament for amending the Merchandise Marks Act of 1887. Three measures have this session been presented to the House of Commons—the Merchandise Marks Act Amendment Bill, introduced by Baron H. de Worms; and two bills under the title "false marking prevention," introduced by Mr. H. Vincent. The first of the Government bills contains two clauses carrying out the recommendations of the Select Committee of the House of Commons which sat and reported last year in favour of making the Customs entry a trade description within the meaning of the Act of 1887, and enabling the Board of Trade to prosecute in certain cases. This bill was read a third time and passed in the House of Commons on the 7th April. The House of Commons has rejected Mr. H. Vincent's False Marking Prevention (No. 2) Bill by 89 votes to 16. Its object was to secure the omission of sub-section 3 of section 3 from the Act of 1887. Neither of these measures contain clauses for extending the marking of origin upon goods to which objection has been largely taken, and which objection is evidently intended to apply to Mr. H. Vincent's other bill (still awaiting second reading) which expressly provides for prohibiting the import of all goods (not exempted by the customs) "which do not bear in a legible and conspicuous form a definite indication of the country in which such goods were made or produced," and, further, that no imported goods "shall be exposed or offered for sale in any part of the United Kingdom, unless by means either of express notice or by a board, card, label, ticket, invoice, or other document, the purchaser be made aware that such goods have been imported and are not of home production." Against this Bill Sir Albert Rolitt has presented a petition to the House of Commons on behalf of the London Chamber of Commerce, in which it is declared that the bill is entirely unnecessary and that it aims at imposing legislative restrictions on business matters which can only harass traders without conferring counterbalancing advantages upon purchasers and consumers.

CLARET-DRINKERS will be grieved to learn that nearly all the superior vintages of recent years have now almost disappeared from the markets. Stocks of 1875 are only procurable at very high prices; 1874 is becoming scarce; and even 1878 will, it is believed, not hold out very long. Under these circumstances it is satisfactory to be assured, on the authority of our Consul at Bordeaux, that competent judges in that neighbourhood are of opinion that last year's wines in the Gironde Department (which includes the Medoc district) are of very good promise. It is thought, we are told, by many that no wines so good as regards body, colour, and flavour have been produced there since 1878. This favourable opinion applies both to the white wines and the red.

ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT POTASH

COOLING! INVIGORATING! REFRESHING!

Mr. Sims Reeves.

Mr. SIMS REEVES says:—"This preparation is great boon; simple, refreshing and efficacious."

MADAME MARIE ROZE (the renowned singer) says:—"I have used your EFFERVESCENT POTASH with remarkable results. It is really wonderful."

It Prevents and Cures Indigestion.
It Purifies the Blood and Preserves the Bloom of Youth.
It is a natural Tonic and most pleasant Drink

There was sickness in Olympus; all the gods were slightly ill;
Jove himself had got a headache, Juno thought she'd take a pill;
Venus languished in her beauty, Bacchus, too, felt very queer.
He'd been drinking all last evening very potent bitter beer.
Tired of nectar and nepenthe, some new drink they wished to find;
Something to refresh the body, and invigorate the mind;
Long they sought, then found and carried up to heaven's high azure vault,
Sparkling, in a crystal goblet, ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT.
When they drank the magic liquid, vanished every ache and pain.
Bacchus pulled himself together; Venus felt herself again.
Then said Jove, "When gods approve it, sure it is those mortals' fault,
If they suffer any ailment, since they can get ABBEY'S SALT."
Pleasant 'tis, and most refreshing, and disease it keeps away.
I myself shall, in the future, take one glassful every day;
As a drink it far surpasses all that's made from hop or malt.
'Tis the best of all inventions—"ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT."
